Finding the full text of an article on Global Health database
There are several options to try when you need a copy of the whole paper for a record you have found on Global Health database.
1. Using the link resolver on results or individual record pages

To go to your library’s fulltext holdings and they have a link resolver it will display in search results or the abstract record.
2. Refining for fulltext content in the results page

If your library doesn’t link to fulltext holdings using a resolver, you can refine results by clicking “CABI Hosted Fulltext” and/or “Open Access Journals”
3. Fulltext using DOI or URL on the record page

Look at the information below the abstract. Clicking on DOI or URL fields may take you to the full text depending on your subscriptions.
